

Class Talk Feedback

Spend some time watching the videos of your classmate's class talks and try to give them some valuable feedback. It's always nice to hear when you have done something really well and good to know what your next step could be so your next class talk is EVEN BETTER!

When you are listening think about these questions:

- Did they explain what they would be famous for and why?
- Did they give a good description of the thing that would make them famous?
- Did the talk last for 2 minutes?
- Did they have a good pace? (didn't speak too fast or too slow)
- Were they able to talk without reading from notes the whole time?

After watching a class talk think of something that went really well and let them know. If you think there is something they could work on for next time then give some advice.

If a class talk already has feedback from two different people then please leave feedback for another person. We don't want one person getting feedback from ten other classmates and another person having no feedback!
